GROUP MANAGING DIRECTOR'S REPORT

The vineyard is generally quiet with some permanent staff still on leave and contractors having also finished their work for now. Our spray program is now on a need basis and hopefully the spray carts will not be called on again.

With the harvesting of our white varieties expected to begin in February and March the workshop and remaining staff are engaged in machinery maintenance to have everything up and running before we start. Our technical staff are still constantly monitoring for pest & diseases and they have now also begun monitoring and testing for maturity (ripeness) of the fruit. This entails collecting bunches of grapes at random from throughout the vineyard and testing them for sugar levels (Baumes), pH and titratable acidity. When the fruit reaches the required baume, which alters for different varieties, it is usually time to harvest the grapes. However sometimes the winemakers will want to harvest on flavour ripeness rather than just sugar levels to make sure the wines have enhanced flavours and are of the highest quality.

Water moisture monitoring and irrigation is still high up on the list of importance for good vineyard management.

Group Managing Director

KEEPING YOUR DETAILS UP TO DATE

Keeping our records up to date ensures that you receive all of the important correspondence regarding your investment. If you have moved and are yet to update your details, please contact investors@coonawarravineyard.com.au

STAFF CHANGES

We would like to welcome Nicole Neuhuber, Mandy Benton, Samara Manning, Skye Wills and Karen Dodd to the Adelaide office.

ADDITIONAL DOCUMENTATION

The provision of documents to a third party is the responsibility of the grower, therefore due to the increased number of requests from third parties for copies of documents, requests for additional copies of documentation now will require a fee of $10 per document to be paid prior to the document/s being provided.
